

Blossom

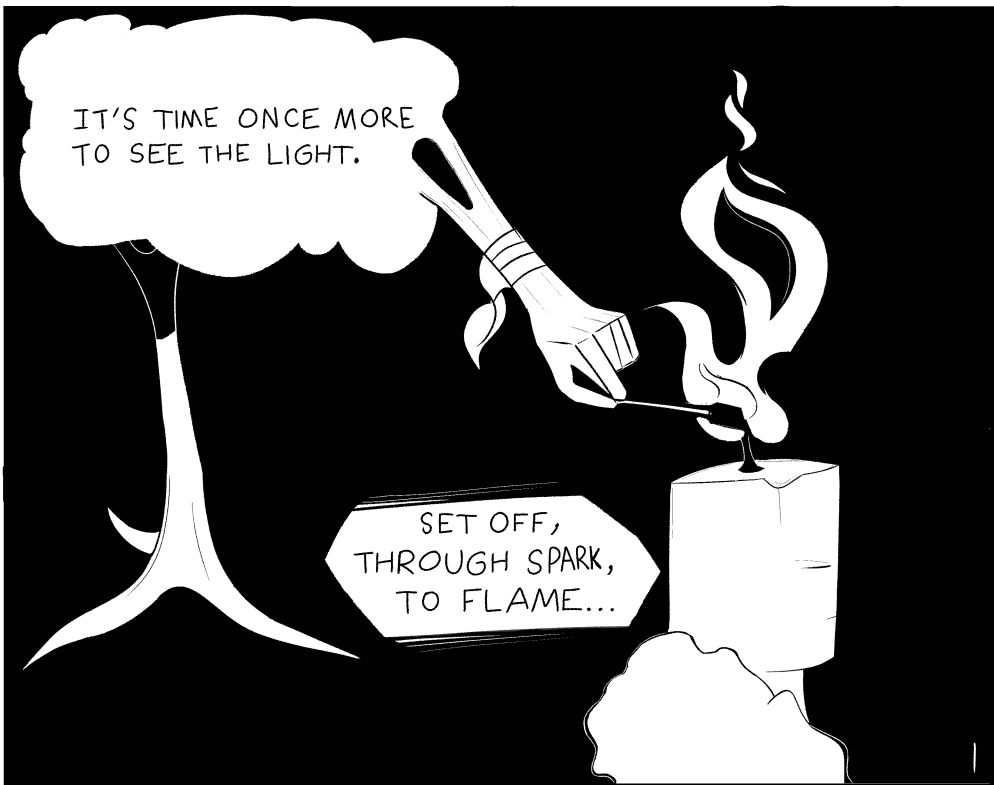

A black and white line drawing. On the left, a large, dark, jagged silhouette of a tree or rock formation dominates the upper half. In the center, a person with a candle for a head sits on a rectangular box. The person has long, flowing hair and is wearing a simple dress. The candle has a flame. To the right of the person is a large, stylized tree with long, thin, branching limbs. In the foreground, a series of parallel lines form a perspective view of a path or a series of steps leading towards the person. A small, simple flower is drawn on the ground near the person's feet.

STORY AND ART:
Robbie McLaughlin

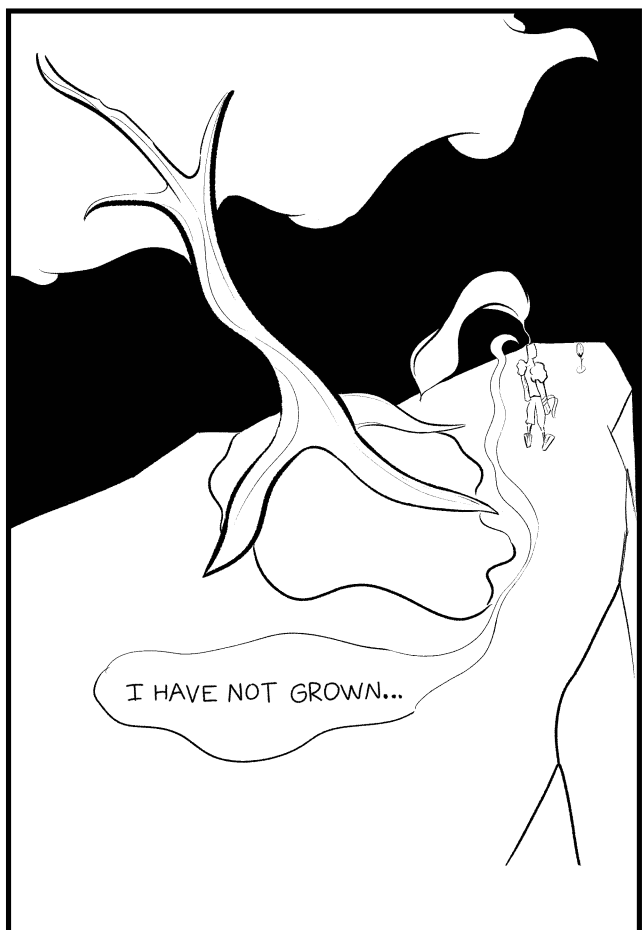

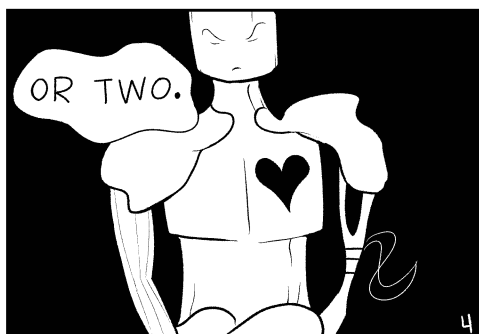

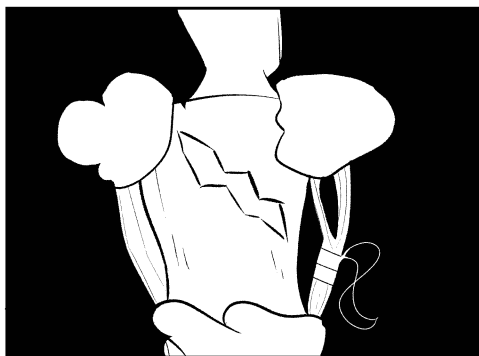

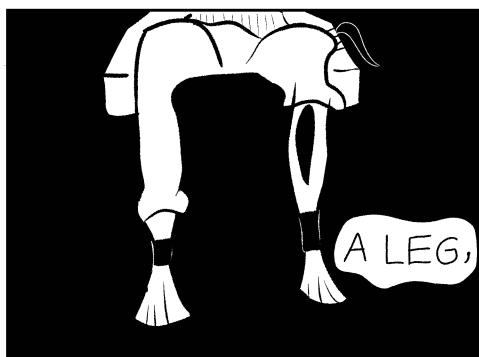

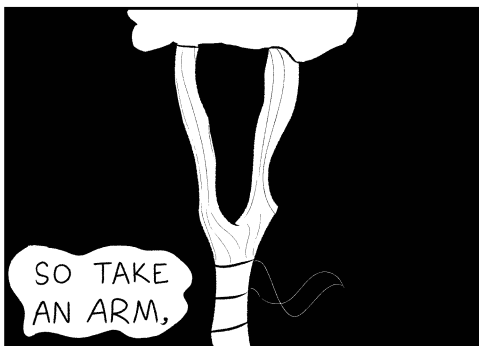

Blossom

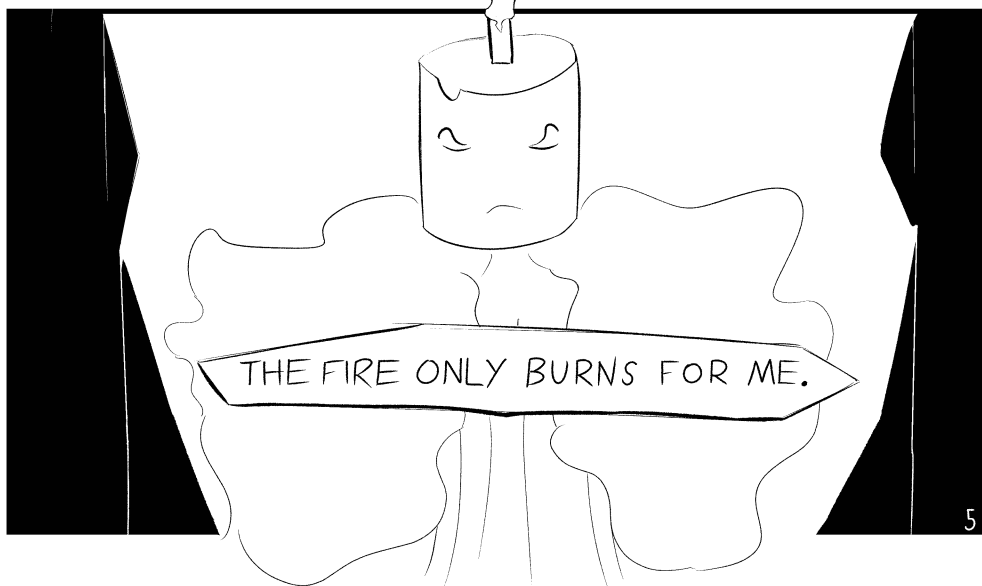

Written by Robbie McLaughlin

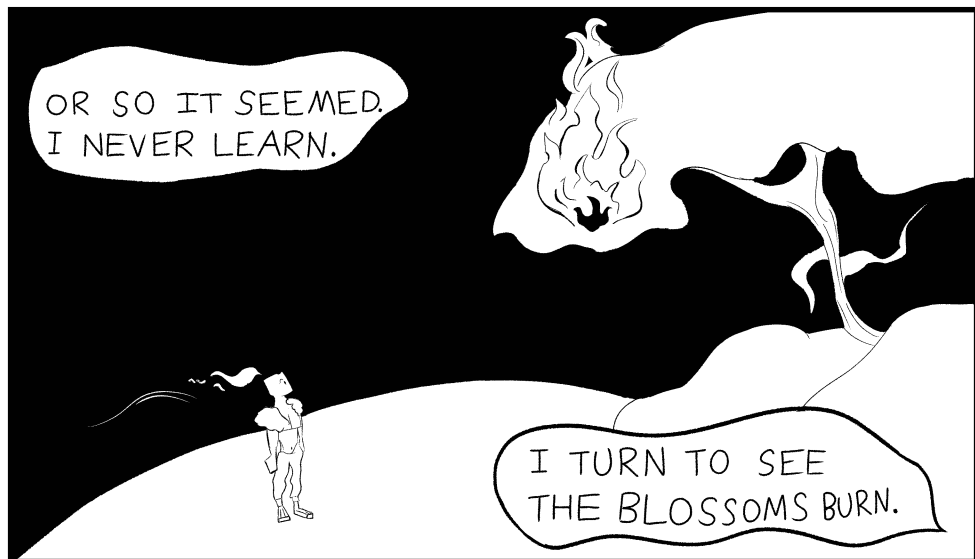

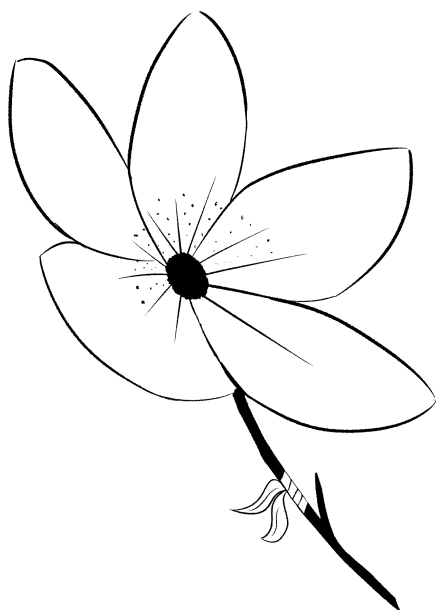

I'll try to let the blossoms be.

